

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

HIGHLY INSULATED INDUCTIVE DATA COUPLERS

- 5        There is provided an inductive coupler for coupling a signal to a power line. The inductive coupler includes a magnetic core for placement about the power line, a coil wound around a portion of the magnetic core, and a semiconducting coating that encapsulates the core and contacts the power line. The signal is coupled to the coil.